

WORKER COOPERATIVE JUMPSTART

A coalition of worker cooperative advocates, —including members of Red Emma's, The Working World, the Democracy at Work Network, Baltimore Bicycle Works, 2640, Baltimore Activating Solidarity Economies, and Gilmore-Khandhar LLC—invite you to a day-long training providing the tools you need to start a worker coop or convert an existing business to a democratically-owned workplace.

In a series of workshops, we'll cover the fundamental principles behind worker cooperatives and the basics of cooperative business planning, bring you up to speed on cooperative business law in Maryland, explore some of the emerging options for nontraditional cooperative business financing, and help you begin thinking about the important choices behind building a successful democratically managed and governed workplace.

Lunch will be provided; a sliding scale donation to help us cover costs is requested, but not required.

Space is limited; RSVP at: bit.ly/wcjumpstart
